Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments: Although Rozen et al., U.S. Patent No. 6,073,106 A discloses different pieces of information in an emergency category available to healthcare providers (see column 6, lines 20-31) and Fortenberry et al., U.S. Patent No. 6,005,939 A, discusses an unsecure and secure level (see column 7, lines 24-33), none of these inventors describe different categories of information, no correlation between the different categories of information and the different security levels, applied with any granularity, in which information objects are secured. Although hyperlinks and other browser-executable code, unless required under 35 U.S.C.112, 1st paragraph, are not permitted in the specification, they can be used in citations in information disclosure statements. Trademarks can be included in the specification as long as they are designated as either trademarks or registered trademarks. A terminal disclaimer to overcome an obvious double patenting rejection must be filed with a response to an Office action before a Notice of Allowance can be mailed.
